Statewide Honor for Upstate School

Camperdown Academy recognized for academic contributions to community

November 10, 2021 (Greenville, SC) - Camperdown Academy is the proud recipient of the W. Keller Kissam School of Honor award for 2021. This annual distinction is given by the South Carolina Independent School Association (SCISA) to recognize a school that has demonstrated extraordinary academic service to the community.

Executive Director of SCISA, Dr. Spencer Jordan, says “As one of the premier schools for dyslexia in the Southeast, Camperdown Academy provides stellar individualized instructional methodology to their outside-the-box educational initiatives. Every decision that is made by this outstanding educational institution is dedicated to the long-term success of their students.”

Camperdown Academy provides excellence in the education of dyslexic children. The non-profit school has been serving students in grades one through eight since 1986 and provides ongoing education and training for professionals and parents. Families approach the school for services when students are unable to succeed in a traditional classroom environment due to their learning differences.
