Summer Book Report

The book Little Red Riding Hood by the Brothers Grimm is a fairy tale about a girl and a wolf. This story is about a girl named Little Red Riding Hood who is a sweet child who loves her grandmother. The Big Bad Wolf is a hungry wolf who lives in the forest near her house. The story takes place in the forest near Little Red Riding Hood's house and at her grandmother's house. When Little Red Riding Hood finds out that her grandmother is sick, she decides to go visit her and bring her a basket of goodies to help her feel better. To get to her grandmother's house, she has to take a path through the forest where the Big Bad Wolf lives. Little Red Riding Hood's mother tells her to stay safe by walking directly to her grandmother's house without leaving the path or stopping in the forest. Little Red Riding Hood sees some flowers growing in the forest and she really wants to bring some to her grandmother, so she goes off the path and stops and pick them. The Big Bad Wolf sees her in the forest and learns that she is going to her sick grandmother's house. He runs ahead of her and locks her grandmother in a closet. Then he puts on the grandmother's nightgown and gets under the covers in the grandmother's bed. The wolf nearly tricks Little Red Riding Hood into getting so close that he can gobble her up, but a wood cutter from the forest comes in just in time and saves her. My favorite part was when Little Red Riding Hood asks the wolf dressed as her grandmother about her big eyes, nose, and teeth. I give this book four out of five stars. I think most kids would like this book because it is exciting and a little scary, but it has a happy ending.
